Texas Rape Prevention & Education Logic Model

POSITIVE YOUTH DEVELOPMENT

ACTIVITIES

A1. Identify and establish public/private partnerships that can provide T/TA and support evaluation capacity of sub-recipients to facilitate and monitor the implementation of prevention programs/practices/policies

A2. Develop a state action plan for implementing selected approaches for Focus Areas 1, 2, 3 and 4

A3. Fund and implement Be Strong, Bringing in the Bystander, Close to Home, Coaching Boys into Men (Train the Trainer), LiveRespect, Mentors in Violence Prevention, Second Step, and/or Step UP!

A4. Develop and implement a state-level evaluation plan

A5. Identify and track state-level sexual violence indicators

SHORT-TERM OUTCOMES

S1. Increase alignment between state-level goals and prevention strategies at the state and local level

S2. Demonstrate the selection of sub-recipients based on data driven decision making

S3. Increase capacity from partnerships to access and use data and leverage support

S4. Increase data driven decision making for program selection

S5. Increase Authentic Youth Engagement by sub-recipients

S6. Increase the percentage of community/societal-level approaches implemented

S7. Increase the number of process and outcome evaluation activities implemented from the state evaluation plan

S8. Increase tracking of selected state-level sexual violence and related indicators

INTERMEDIATE OUTCOMES

Increase State Capacity

I1. Increase use of partnerships to implement community/societal-level strategies and improve coordination of state sexual violence prevention efforts

I2. Increase use of data driven decision making for program delivery

I3. Increase the use of indicator data to track implementation and outcomes

I4. Increase environmental and community change (e.g. general tolerance of sexual violence within the community; societal norms that support sexual violence)

I5. Increase in connection to a caring adult; emotional health and connectedness; empathy and concern for how one's actions affect others; community support and connectedness; and decrease in general aggressiveness and acceptance of violence; general tolerance of sexual violence within the community; societal norms that support sexual violence

LONG-TERM OUTCOME

L1. Decrease rates of sexual violence perpetration and victimization